Eight Registered Mail Pouches Taken From Train are Found in Attic of Omaha School.

Engineer and Fireman of Train Identify Two of the Suspects as the Men Who Forced them to Stop Train.

(By Associated Press.)
OMAHA, May 28.—The eight mail pouches taken from the Union Pacific overland limited on Saturday night were found in the attic of the Brown Park school south of Omaha today. The police are satisfied that in Woods, Torgenson and Gordon, who were arrested last night, that they have the men who robbed the train. Chief of Police Biggs said tonight he expected to secure a confession from the prisoner. In Torgenson's room a photograph of four men taken in Denver was found, which gives the first definite clues to where the men came from. If the suspects are the men wanted the interesting question as to the disposition of the $5000 reward arises, as the clue was given by three boys, none of whom are over 8 years old.

OMAHA, May 28.—Fred Torgenson and W. D. Woods, who are under arrest here, were tonight identified as the two men who robbed the Union Pacific overland limited on Saturday night. Engineer Mickeljohn and Fireman Prowl identified them as the bandits who crawled over the tender of the engine and forced them to stop the train.

MANHATTAN'S DAILY CLEAN-UP AVERAGES $1000

(Special to the Bonanza.)
MANHATTAN, May 28.—The average daily clean-up from the workings in the main gulch is estimated at $1000.

The new placer map, just issued by Liddell and Liddell, shows sixty-three different workings in the gulch, from the Manhattan Dexter ground to the Hilldale claim near the entrance to Smoky valley.

On the east side of the summit half a dozen shafts are now being sunk for placer. An abundance of water has been encountered, and work in several places has been temporarily abandoned until pumps can be installed. Good colors have been secured from the different holes in the east gulch.

It is estimated that over 150 men are employed on these different placer properties in the camp.

The largest nugget yet secured in the main gulch was found by "Dry Wash" Wilson and was worth $22.50. A great number of nuggets, ranging from $5 to $15 each, have been recovered.

The highest values per yard secured from any property in the gulch came from a lease on the Happy Day claim, formerly operated by a Slavonian named Bocovich, when a pocket was encountered which gave up gravel worth as high as $121 per yard.

The average value of the gravel secured in the gulch is $12 per cubic yard.

The Pneumatic Dredger company of Sacramento has a machine enroute to Manhattan, which will be placed in operation on ground under lease to "Dry Wash" Wilson. The company claims that its dredger is capable of handling from 500 to 1000 yards of gravel per day.

TIRES OF THE CHAIN GANG AFTER FIVE DAYS OF HARD LABOR.

For each day in the bastille Deal received a rebate of $2, but he did not like this way of earning money and beside the chain gang did not appeal to him, so he raised the fine money and consequently was released from the custody of the sheriff. He will return to Manhattan, the greatest placer producer in the world, today.

The spectators were greatly wrought up as Chief of Police Gallagher told a confession had been made and later repudiated by Junken. ### LEGAL ELOQUENCE MARKS SESSION OF THE CALHOUN CASE

For Two Hours Attorneys Argue Over the Admissibility of Certain Evidence.

(By Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—The Calhoun trial today was marked by a torrent of legal eloquence when an attempt was made to force John Helms to relate the details of the alleged attempt to prevent his appearance as a witness against the president of the street car corporation. For two hours the attorneys for both sides argued the question of the admissibility of the evidence and at times personal equation was entered so strongly into the argument that the court was compelled to restore order and the customary decorum proceedings.

Helms, under examination by Heney, had told of the visits made to his ranch by two men, the alleged emissaries of the defense. Earlier in the day Alonzo J. Munroe, an attorney of Eureka, testified he had sent W. S. Lamb, a rancher, to Helms' house to carry out the instructions sent Munroe by W. H. Metson, the attorney who has represented the United Railroads in the recent proceedings connected with the Calhoun case. Helms told Munroe that he would refuse to appear if he was given $3000. The prosecution contended that they were justified in entrapping the defense in the attempt to offer a bribe to Helms, while the defense argued a deliberate attempt was made to force the defense to offer a bribe to the detective.
